

Answer Key

---

Chapter 12: Politics of the Roaring Twenties (pages 410–431)

---

Section 1: Americans Struggle with Postwar Issues (pages 412–418)

1. A wave of nativism and isolationism swept through the country.
2. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer had agents round up communists and anarchists. Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for a crime they probably did not commit.
3. Congress set up a system that limited the number of immigrants from eastern and southern European countries.
4. Immigrants were willing to work in poor conditions, organizing was difficult due to a language barrier, farmers were too self-reliant to want unions, and African Americans were largely excluded.